THE CORNER DRUG STORE

Every once in a while there comes to each of us an excessively sentimental, or even sometimes abnormal yearning for a return to some past period or irrecoverable experience.

To me, the nostalgia is good —for when we look back to days gone by, it is the good things, the happy times, that seem to come more clearly into focus in our minds eye.

Taking a stroll down Main Street in Appomattox today we see people—each busily engaged in a different pursuit, meeting the needs of the people of our town and county.

A busy, modern department store, a thriving feed and seed store, the very best restaurants to be found anywhere. Add to this banks to save your money, banks to loan you money. For the gentlemen a barber shop, for the ladies a beautiful new beauty shop; a jewelry store, insurance offices to meet your every need. A bookstore to browse and buy from, a florist of distinction, and lawyers and businessmen too. Each one working to offer to our people the very best in service or a product. Hustling, bustling business.

When we get to the end of our walk, where Main Street intersects with Church directly in front of the hardware store, we notice a change in the mood of Main Street. For to your left on the corner stands a building—a sort. of sad and lonely building—that is, if a building can be sad. No happy people offering their services with a smile, no eager clerk with tempting merchandise; no gay laughter spilling out, only empty silence oozing from its closed doors.

Very quickly you begin to move away from this large, empty building with windows that seem to stare at you like something long forgotten and neglected.

But oh! What was that noise? It seemed like the sound of happy voices in the distance. Was it laughter coming from the empty, lonely building?

Pause, won't you, and let your mind drift back through the years to the days of THEN — the 1920's. The building that a few moments ago seemed so gray and desolate undergoes a change. Why, its the Drug Store—and more. It's the town meeting place—to get that prescription filled, or a cup of coffee. Maybe you need a headache remedy or you just want to drink a limeade, eat a sandwich and socialize a bit.

A peek in the window reveals a store brimming full of almost anything you could need. Looks like a few of the leading businessmen passing the time of day. On one side I see a soda fountain and seems like someone is busily dishing up ice cream. Oh! I'll bet its that handsome young soda-jerk that all the girls are talking about. If we could just talk to him he could tell us plenty about the "goings on" in the corner drug store. That's just what we'll do.

How about going with me inside soon? Maybe he'll give us some ice cream!!!

CRANBERRY THANKSGIVING

First year students enjoyed hearing a story from a library book called Cranberry Thanksgiving. Since we study nutrition and the importance of trying new things, we decided to try a new recipe for cranberry bread. Students assisted in measuring ingredients and mixing the batter. They also churned fresh cream into butter. Everyone enjoyed the finished results - butter spread on warm cranberry bread, and the satisfaction of having tried something served in an old-fashioned Thanksgiving manner.

Assisting and shown above were, standing, left to right, William Mayberry, Demetria Hamlette, Angela Jamerson; and seated, left to right, Mrs. Simpson, Stephen Delp, Maurice Turner, Karen Lewis and Mrs. Rowe.

MRS. EYE'S 4-H CLASS

Mrs. Eye's 4-H class met on Monday, November 15th.

The meeting was called to order by our president, Blair Smith.

The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Terri Nash and then the 4-H Pledge was said.

A game was played, led by Greg Mayberry and Mark Drinkard.

The minutes of our last meeting was read by Terri Nash.

Mr. Sweet reminded us of the Share-the-Fun Contest on Tuesday, November 23rd.

Mrs. Shirley Walton gave us a very interesting and informative talk on how we could make Christmas gifts from materials we probably have at home. Everyone enjoyed this very much.

The meeting was then adjourned by our president.

HOW TO SELECT AN AGENT

Having your own insurance agent is like having your own security blanket. If you don't already have a competent agent, I suggest you find one - just as you would locate a doctor or a lawyer. Inquire among your friends and in your community. Find an agent who knows his business - one in whom you can have confidence. How comforting it is to know that which one telephone number - all of your insurance problems and claims can be handled smoothly.

When selecting an agent, keep in mind that you will be dealing with him through the years. You will want one who will become your trusted friend and adviser.

The good agent has had extensive education in insurance and financial planning. In all states, he must pass a written examination before qualifying for a license.

An agent is successful because of the quality of his advice and service. He wants to continue to serve his clients year after year, therefore he will always have their best interests at heart.

CALL TO THE LEAVES

Come little leaves said the wind one day,
Come over the meadows with me and play
Put on your dresses of red and gold
Summer has gone as the days grow cold.

As soon as the leaves heard the winds' loud call
Down they came, fluttering one and all
Over the brown fields they danced and flew
Singing the soft little songs they knew.

dancing and flying the little leaves went
Winter had called and they were content
Soon fast asleep in their earthly bed
The snow lay a coverlette over their heads.

This is a poem that I learned in my early childhood.

Make This A Musical Christmas

Choose your piano as the experts do...

The experts—performers, conductors, composers and teachers of great music—demand a piano of the highest standard of excellence. To earn a reputation as one of the great pianos of the world, a piano must win the approval of these experts. Few pianos today can meet this test; few are submitted to it. When so many outstanding leading professional musicians prefer and request a piano for performance and practice, it is proof that this piano has passed this highest test. It is indisputable testimony to the superior caliber of that piano. The voluntary endorsement by many of the world's foremost concert artists unquestionably establishes that one of today's leading pianos is the
